 - 2" piece fresh ginger, peeled, finely chopped
 - 12 Garlic cloves, minced
 - 4 Tbsp. Sugar
 - 4 Tbsp. Tomato paste
 - 4 Sprigs basil, plus garnish
 - 2 Cup hot chili paste (such as sambal oelek)
 - 2 Cup soy sauce
 - 2 Cup unseasoned rice vinegar
 - 2 lbs ramen noodles
 - Salt/Pepper
 - 4 Tbsp. unsalted butter
 - 2-3 Broccoli crowns
1. Heat oil in a large wide heavy pot over medium-high. Add half of pork, breaking apart with wooden spoon. Cook until well browned underneath, about 5 mins. Turn and continue to cook until pork is browned on 2–3 sides, about 5 mins.
 2. Add ginger, garlic, sugar, and remaining pork and cook until meat is nearly cooked through, about 5 mins. Add tomato paste and 2 basil sprigs. Cook, stirring occasionally, until paste darkens, about 2 minutes.
 3. Add chili paste, soy sauce, vinegar, and 2 cups water. Bring to a simmer, reduce heat to low, and cook, uncovered and stirring occasionally, until sauce is slightly thickened and flavors have melded, 30–45 minutes.
 4. Dice broccoli finely, add to pot in last about 10 minutes of cooking
 5. Cook noodles in a large pot of boiling salted water, until 1 minute short of al dente. Add to sauce with butter and a splash of pasta cooking liquid. Simmer, toss, until sauce begins to cling to noodles, about 1 minute. Add basil.

HALAL CHICKEN AND RICE

From Ethan Chlebowski, optionally add red sauce (or make chicken spicy). Season aggressively and sear the chicken hard.

Serves: 6–8

- 4 lbs skinless Chicken thighs
 - Salt/Pepper
 - Cayenne
 - 5 whole cloves, crushed
 - Cumin
 - Oregano
 - 3 Garlic cloves
 - Lemon juice
 - Mayo
 - 2 Tbsp Butter
 - 1/2 Onion, diced
 - Turmeric
 - Smoked Paprika
 - 1 Bay leaf
 - 2 cups Basmati rice
 - 2 cups water or stock
 - plain Greek yogurt
 - 10 g white Vinegar
1. Marinated Chicken: Salt the chicken thighs and set them aside. Crush the cloves and cumin in a mortar and pestle. Add oregano, black pepper, cayenne, and garlic cloves into the mortar with the spices and crush into a rough paste. In a large mixing bowl, combine the lemon juice, mayo, and spice mixture. Add the chicken thighs and thoroughly coat the exterior. Cover and place in the fridge for up to 24hrs or cook right away.
 2. Place a pan over high to medium-high heat. Once hot, sear the chicken thighs until deeply browned. Chop the chicken into pieces in the pan
 3. Yellow Rice: Melt butter in a pot over medium heat. Add onion, cumin, turmeric, smoked paprika, pepper, and bay leaf. Stir aromatics together until fragrant but not burnt, about 30 seconds. Add the rice to the pan with the aromatics and mix. Lightly toast the rice and stir for about 2 minutes. Add chicken broth, turn up the heat, and cover the pan to bring to a boil. Turn the heat to the lowest setting. Let rice steam covered for about 20 mins

ENCHILADAS VERDE CON POLLO

 - 2 large White onions
 - White wine
 - Cumin
 - Coriander
 - Paprika
 - Salt/Pepper

 2. Roughly chop one of the onions and fry it in the same pot until golden. Put in maybe a teaspoon (or more) each of the ground cumin, coriander and paprika, grind in some pepper, and fry the spices for a minute. Put the chicken back in, and cover with about half white wine, half water. Salt. Cover, reduce heat to a simmer, and cook until the chicken begins falling about (30 mins).
 3. For the salsa verde, cut the chiles in half, scrape out and discard the seeds. Husk the tomatillos, rinse, and cut them in half. Roughly cut other onion. Put the veggies and lime into a wide pan and toss them in olive oil. Put the pan into the oven at 450 F. After the salsa has a bit of color, put in the whole peeled garlic cloves and stir. Cook maybe 20 mins total. Broil for a few minutes on high, Squeeze the lime juice and discard. Puree until smooth.
 4. Grate up the cheese. Put maybe half a cup of the salsa into the chicken, along with half of the cheese. Mix up the filling and check for seasoning.
 5. Grease a 7x11 inch baking dish. Dunk a tortilla into the salsa, scoop in a modest line of filling, and roll up the tortilla, seam-side down. Repeat until you've filled your baking dish and/or exhausted your filling. Spoon the extra salsa and cheese on top of the enchiladas. Bake uncovered until the cheese is browned, maybe 20 mins. BISCUITS AND SAUSAGE GRAVY

Calorie bomb, from J Kenji Lopez-Alt

Serves: 5

- 1 cup Flour
 - 4.5 tsp (15g) Baking powder
 - 3/4 tsp (12g) Salt
 - 15oz (2 cups) Heavy Cream
 - 12oz breakfast Sausage
 - 3 Tbsp Flour (for gravy)
 - 3 cup Heavy Cream (or milk)
 - Salt/Pepper
1. Preheat an oven to 425F. Combine the flour, baking powder, and salt in a bowl. Add the heavy cream and mix into a shaggy dough. Do not knead it. Dump it onto a floured work surface and form it into a rough 9x9" rectangle. Cut it into three biscuits with a sharp knife. Transfer to a baking sheet and bake until golden brown, about 15 minutes. (You can brush them with heavy cream or melted butter before baking for darker and more even browning, if you wish.)
 2. Meanwhile make the gravy: cook the sausage in a medium skillet over medium-high heat, breaking it up with a wooden spoon until it's not longer pink. If the pan is very dry, add a couple teaspoons of oil or butter to moisten it. Add 1 tablespoon of flour and stir to incorporate. Whisk in the heavy cream or milk. Bring to a simmer while stirring frequently and adjust the consistency with more heavy cream or milk if it's too thick. Season aggressively with black pepper and salt.
 3. When the biscuits are done, transfer to a plate and smother with the sausage gravy. Serve.

Add the cinnamon and vanilla and stir until well combined. Pour half of the butter mixture over the cereal mixture and toss until well coated. Add the remaining butter mixture and toss again until evenly coated.
 3. Spread the mixture on the baking sheet in an even layer. Bake, stirring every 15 minutes, until toasted and just starting to dry out, about 1 hour.
 4. Combine the white chocolate chips and coconut oil in a small microwave-safe bowl. Microwave at 50 percent power in 30-second intervals, stirring between each interval, until melted and smooth.

RAGU BOLOGNESE

From J Kenji Lopez-Alt

Serves: 6–9

- 8–12oz Pancetta
 - 1 lbs ground Beef
 - 1 lbs ground Lamb
 - 1 lbs ground Pork
 - 2 large Onions, diced
 - 4 ribs Celery, diced
 - 2 large Carrots, shredded
 - 5–8 gloves Garlic
 - Sage, thyme, rosemary, basil
 - 1/2 cup Tomato paste
 - 2 cups White Wine
 - 4 cups Chicken stock
 - 2 Tbsp Gelatin
 - 2 cups Milk
 - Parmesan
 - 2 lbs dry Pasta
1. Heat the oil in a wide straight-sided sauté pan or Dutch oven over medium-high heat until shimmering. Add the pancetta and cook, until it's well-browned and the fat has mostly rendered off, a few mins. Add the meat, season lightly with salt and pepper, and cook, breaking it up with a spoon, until it's pretty well-browned as well, 7 mins
 2. Add the onion, celery, carrot, and garlic and cook, stirring, until softened but not browned, about 5 mins. Add the minced parsley and/or sage (or the bundle of rosemary or thyme) and the tomato paste and cook, stirring, until fragrant. There should be a large amount of browned solids on the bottom of the pan by now.
 3. Add the wine and cook, scraping up the browned bits with a wooden spoon. Continue cooking until sauce is thick and the wine has fully reduced. Add the stock and milk.
 4. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat until the sauce is at the barest simmer. Cook about 30 mins, stirring now and then, until the sauce is rich and thick and emulsified. Fat may break out as it cooks and forms a reddish slick on top. This is OK, just keep cooking and that fat will eventually get re-emulsified into the sauce.
 5. To serve, cook up some good fresh pasta (tagliatelle or rigatoni) just until al dente. Transfer the cooked pasta to a large skillet and spoon some of the ragu on top of it. Add some minced parsley and/or basil, some freshly grated cheese, a drizzle of olive oil, and a big splash of the pasta cooking-water. Cook over high heat, tossing constantly, until the sauce is creamy and coat the pasta. Serve right away.

BEEF SHORT RIBS

Use english-cut ribs, from Adam Ragusea

Serves: 5

- 5 lbs beef Short ribs
- 1 large red Onion
- 3 Carrots
- 2 stalks Celery
- 2 Tbsp Tomato paste
- 1 bottle White Wine
- 1 star Anise
- 1 tsp Coriander Seeds
- Salt/Pepper
- Vinegar
- 4 lbs Potatoes
- Milk
- Rosemary
- Frozen Peas
- Butter

1. Put a little oil in a large lidded pot on moderate heat and slowly brown the short ribs on all sides in batches. Do not let anything burn. Take them out, and throw in the roughly chopped onion, carrots and celery. Let the veggies brown for a minute, then stir in the tomato paste. Then deglaze with the wine. Put in the anise, coriander, pepper and a big pinch of salt. Put the ribs back in, reduce the heat to a bare simmer, cover, and let cook for 8 hours.
2. Carefully remove meat to a plate, discard bones. Strain the braising liquid and discard the solids. Add some ice cubes and throw the liquid in the fridge to solidify fat out. Cover the meat and throw it in the fridge.
3. After you've de-fatted your braising liquid, reserve the fat and throw the liquid into a wide pan. Bring it to a boil and reduce it to a glaze — about a half hour. Stir it constantly and maybe reduce the heat toward the end to keep it from sticking and burning. Taste the glaze, and give it some more seasoning and maybe some vinegar to taste (it should taste too strong on its own). Reduce the heat to warm and carefully toss the meat in the glaze then cover and let the meat re-heat.
4. While the sauce is reducing, peel, chunk up and boil your potatoes until easily pierced with a fork. Drain them off, put in a glug of milk, a big pinch of salt, and the reserved fat from the beef. Mash, stir and taste. Add more milk and salt until you like it. Chop up the fresh rosemary and stir it into the mash right before you eat.
5. Thaw some frozen peas and add butter and salt to taste. When you get everything on the plate, be sure to spoon some extra glaze over the beef.

BRICK CHICKEN

From Adam Ragusea

Serves: 2

- 4 large boneless Chicken Thighs with skin
 - 3 large Carrots
 - 1 bunch Green Onions
 - 2–3 cloves Garlic
 - 1 red Chili
 - Lemon juice
 - Salt/Pepper
 - 2 Bricks
1. Peel the carrots and discard the outer peels. Then use your peeler to cut as many thin ribbons as possible out of the carrots, discarding the core. Cut the root ends off the green onions, as well as the dry green tops, and peel off any undesirable outer layers. Bisect each onion and pull the layers apart from each other. Peel and slice/chop the garlic, and thinly slice the chili.
 2. Season the chicken with salt and pepper. Heat a cast iron or nonstick pan on medium, and coat the bottom with olive oil. When it's shimmering, lay in the thighs, skin-side down. Place the brick (covered in foil) on top of chicken
 3. Reduce the heat, possibly to low. Use your nose to perceive whether the skin is burning. After about 10 minutes, remove the brick, and flip the chicken pieces to cook the raw side, about 5 additional minutes to make sure the interior is thoroughly cooked. (If the skins aren't brown enough to your liking, you could always turn up the heat right at the end and brown them some more.) Remove to a plate to rest.
 4. Dump your vegetables into the pan, turn the heat up to medium-high, and stir constantly to get everything coated in chicken fat and cooked evenly. After about 5 minutes, the vegetables should be almost tender. Taste for seasoning, and stir in any needed salt, plus the juice of half a lemon
